REGARD TO SMALL-POX. The essential nature of small-pox is to diffuse itself, and under cortain favorable conditions it is not only communicable from person to person, but capable of being transported to great distances.

To prevent the propagation of the specific poison, the following rangiary regulations have been adopted by the Board of Health and approved by the Governor of the District of Columbia.

Parents and quartiage shall cause their children. Parents and guardians shall cause their children and wards to be vacciosted before they attain the age of two years, and revaccipated whenever the Board of Hoalth shall, after five years from the last Board of Braith shall, after five years from the last vaccination, require it.

The Board of Bealth hereby orders and requires the vaccination of all the inhabitants in the District of Columbia and whenever in their opinion the public health demands it, the revaccination of all persons who de not furnish satisfactory evidence that they have been successfully vaccinated or revaccinated within five years.

The Board of Health will furnish the means of vaccination to such persons as are snable to pay for the same. For this purpose the physicians to the poor, or their assistants, will be directed to vaccinate the peor gratuitously; and whenever the exigency requires it, physicians will be employed to go from house to house for the purpose of vaccinating all people who need vaccination.

Principals of incorporated manufacturing companies, superintendents of pimshouses, reform and in-

Principals of incorporated manufacturing companies, separintendents of himshouses, reform and industrial schools, unatic hospitals, and of all other charities, where the poor and sick are received; mastern of houses of cerrection, jathors, keepers of prisons, and directors or officers of all institutions supported or aided by the District of Columbia, shall, at the expense of their respective corporations or institutions, cause all immates thereof to be vaccinated immediately upon their admission thereto, unless they produce sufficient evalence of previous successful vaccination having taken place within five years.

to, unless they produce sufficient evalence of previets success ut vaccination having taken place within five years.

Small-pox being eminently contagious and infectious, isolation forms an imperative necessity for the prevention of its propagation. Whenever, therefore, a case of small-pox occurs in a dwelling containing more than two inhabitants, it shall be the duty of the head of the family to select the most remote agartiment for the occupancy of the person afflicted with small pox—the highest room in the dwelling to be preferred.

And whenever in a tenant house and lodging-house, toarding-house or hotel, the person afflicted by the small-pox cannot be isolated to the satisfaction of the health officer, said person shall be removed to the small-pox hespital by agents employed for it a purpose by the Board of Health.

Whenever a case of small-pox breaks out in any dwelling or place, the warning flag made of yellow flashed) shall be attached to and exposed from the premises occupied by said case, as a warning to the premises occupied by said case, as a warning to the presser-by of the presence of small-pex in that locality. And if the yellow flag be not immediately attainable, a placard, on which is written in large and legible letters, "Small pox here," shall be tastened upon an exposed part of the infected house or dwelling.

It shall be the duty of these in whose dwellings ratened upon an exposed part of the infected house or dwelling.

It shall be the duty of these in whose dwellings small-pox occurs to fundate the house, and the room of the patient, with sulphur, three times a day; to cleanse and disinfect every part of the dwelling by the free use of chlorinated soda, carbolic acid, bromo chloralum, or such other disinfectant as the Board of Health may direct.

A clath of the size of a square yard, steeped in a solution of chlorinated soda, carbolic acid, or bromochloralum, shall be tung in the patient's room, and kept constantly saturated with the said disinfect ants.

The room of the patient shall be kept thoroughly ventilated, and no other person than a nurse who has had the small-pox, or a member of the family, shall be allowed to enter the same. Persons being in attendance upon the sick shall not come in contact with other inmates or persons, unless they have been previously properly fumigated and disinfected, and changed the clothing worn by them while in the sick room.

It shall be the duty of said attendants to see that no clothing is conveyed from the sick room that has not been previously disinfected and fumigated. And, moreover, all clothing in said room, or worn by the patient while affected by small-pox, shall be kept distinct and separate, and shall be given out to be washed only to persons who have had the small pox, the fact to be stated in every instance that they are from a small-pox patient, and must therefore be kept and washed sepparately. Physicians or other citizens having knowledge of Physicians or other citizens having knowledge of the existence of small-pox are expected to give immediate notice to the Board of Health of every case coming to their knowledge. But it is especially enjoined by law upon the proprietors of tenement-houses, lodging houses, boarding-houses, and hotels to notify the Board of Health of the presence of small-pex in their respective abodes, under penalty of fine and imprisemment, and this law against all persons concerned will be strictly enforced. It shall be the duty of the citizen to immediately notify the Board of Beatth of the death of any person from small-pox of which he may have knowledge, and no one except such as may have had the son from small-pox of which he may have knowledge, and no one except such as may have had the small-pox. and the officers of the Board of Health assigned to that duty, shall take charge of, dress, or bury the body of the person who has thus died.

The interment of persons dying from small-pox shall take place within six hours after death, or as soon as the circumstances of the case will allow; and no person who has died of small pox shall be buried in private or public cemeteries or burying grounds without a permit from the Board of Health, a member of the same, or the Health Officer.

Whenever funeral obsequies may be desired, the body shall be placed in a hermetically-scaled metal comm, and no person will be allowed to be present at said obsequies or follow the corpse to the grave except the nearest kin-relations; and under no circum stances shall a corpse infected with small pox be taken to a church or meeting-house, but it shall be taken to a church or meeting-house, but it shall be conveyed directly from the house to the grave.

When people are so poor as to be unable to incur the expense of coffin and burial, any undertaker appointed to furnish coffins to the poor shall provide the coffin, and in every case shall take the same to the house in which the corpse lays, but shall not place said corpse in the coffin, or take any part in laying out the dead, unless he has had the small pox, and properly funnigated and disinfected his clothing. The laying out of the body and the burial shall be done by the efficers appointed for that purpose by the Board of Health.

The small-pox ambulance shall be kept at the small pox hospital. email pox hospital.

The ambulance shall be accompanied by an inspector whenever needed for the removal of small-

The inspect The inspector accompanying the ambulance, and the driver, are forbidden from entering street cars or any public conveyance.

They shall also keep a suit of clothing to wear during the service of removing small-pox patients; said suit of clothing to be kept fumigated and disinfected at all times, and under no circumstances shall they wear the said clothing when off duty.

The inspector attending to small poxy patients and The inspector attending to small pox patients and the driver of the ambulance shall, until otherwise ordered, wear a linen suit while on duty.

The inspector detailed to attend to the removal of small-pox patients shall funigate and disinfect the dwellings where small-pox cases occur. He shall see that the clothing is preperly disinfected, packed up, carried safely to the ambulance, and destroyed. He shall keep an account of the clothes or furniture of poor persons which have been destroyed, the probable value of the same, and the names of the parties to whom they belong, and give a receipt for the same.

Under no circumstances shall the ambulance be flowed to tarry in the streets, except for such ength of time as will be required to remove the perient or time body.

The ambulance shall not be taken to any place for repair; but if repair is needed, a person having had the small-pox shall be engaged to mend it at its regular discretions. In driving the ambulance to any point, care shall

In driving the ambulance to any point, care shall be taken to svoid crowded streets, school houses, or frequented places. The driver shall, as far as practicable, keep out of crowded thoroughfares, and shall avoid meeting or passing any procession, funeral, or large concourse of people.

The inspector shall display the yellow flag from every dwelling containing small pox, and if said flag be taken away without authority, the Health Officer unst be immediately notified of the fact.

Commander Rowland reports his action to the department, and speaks highly of the conduct of Easign Bolles.

THE QUESTION whether the ten per cent. discriminating duty established by the President's proclamation of last week is to be held applicable to goods affoat at the time of the proclamation has not been decided by the Treasury De-partment. The officers to whom it has been submitted so far, hold, as stated in the STAR a day or two since, that the discriminating duty applies to all goods arriving in French vessels from other than French ports, from and after the 30th ultimo, the date of the proclamation; but the question is still under consideration.

NAVAL OFFICERS TRANSPERRED .- Lieut. Commander Morton W. Sanders ordered to the naval rendezvous at San Francisco; Lieuts. J. W. Miller and E. H. C. Leutze and Midshipmen James H. Bull, ordered to duty in the Nicaraguan surveying expedition; Surgeon S. D. Kennedy ordered to the Richmond; Surgeon F. L. Dubois detached from the Pawnee and ordered to the Pensacola navy-yard; Assistant Surgeon
J. M. R. Simmons detached from the New York navy yard and ordered to the Richmond; Assistant Surgeon J. F. Bransford detached from the Naval Hospital at Philadelphia and ordered to duty in the Nicaraguan surveying expedition.

PERSONALS .- Hon. Thomas Fitch and family, of Utah, are in the city for the season. They are staying at the Hamilton House for the present, but Mr. F. is negotiating for a handsome house with a view to a permanent residence here. Judge David Davis, of the U. S. Supreme Court, has taken apartments at the National hotel for the winter. .... Senator Blair, of Missouri, is sick in St. Louis. .... Senator Patterson of New Hampshire has, says the New York Tribune, finally accepted the presidency of the Ohio Agricultural and Mechanical College, and will enter on its duties at the close of the Senatorial term, next March.

WAR AGAINST HOSTILE INDIANS .- The government has recently determined, without recalling any of its promises to the Indians, or varying in the least from its conciliatory course towards the great mass of them, to hold the re-calcurant and incorrigibly hostile savages, no matter where they may be found, to a stricter accountability, and compel them by the most vigorous military measures, to accept its policy of peace. The recent castigations administered to Lo by Crook, McKenzie, and others is in pursuance of this determination, and no one need be in the least surprised to hear that our troops have struck still further blows against such hostile bands as persist in repelling the overtures of the government in behalf of peace.

THE FIRST RUBINSTRIN CONCERT, at Lincoln hall last evening, attracted a large and fashionable audience, including many of the best amateur musicians of the national capital. The great expectations of musical people here of the execution of those two great masters of the piano and violin—Rubinstein and Wieniawski—were more than realized. Neither made the mistake, common with more pretentious but less able musicians, of selecting pieces with a view to showing off their manual dexterity—mere musical gymnastics. Both chose pieces which abounded in all the elements of music of the best schools, yet were well calculated to open the ears of the uninitiated to a realizing of the best schools, yet were well calculated to open the ears of the uninitiated to a realizing sense of the wonderful wealth of sweet sounds and startling musical effects which lie dermant in the strings of both piano and violin until called forth by the magical touch of a master hand. Rubinstein's delicacy of touch is wonderful, and the distinciness of every note, from fortissime to pianissimo, even in the most hurried movements, is hardly more pleasing to a cultured ear than the "linked sweetness long drawn out" of pathetic, pleading passages. In the Turkish March, from Beethoven's Ruins of Athens, some of the finest effects were produced. Schumann's Carnival, which closed the concert, was fitly chosen to illustrate at one sitting the capability of the grand piane as a musical instrument and the skill of the great performer. Wienlawski's handling of that king of instruments, the violin, is not less admirable than Rubinstein's of the piano. Without distortion or grimace, with no convulsive jerks and dashes, with ne isbored attempts at startling effects, which are not musical, whatever else they may be, he plays right on, with confident case and grace. The touching "legende" of his own composition, with its plaintive sadness, was in striking contrast with the jubilant music of the Russian airs which followed it.

Of the vecalists M'lles Liebhart and Ormeny it may be said that both are pleasing singers, and hardly get the credit they are entitled to, simply because the audiences go to hear the playing of the two great masters and consider the vecalism as intended to fill up the intervals between the instrumental pieces.

The programme for to-night's concert is a capital one.

Majority in the State. [Special to The Star.] PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5 .- It is hard to realize that we are holding an election in this city today. Never before was so little interest and much apathy manifested. The sweeping triumph of the republicans in October more than demoralized the democrats, and to-day they will not poll more than seventy per cent. of their regular vote. Up to two o'clock the hourly returns received at the mayor's office from all the wards in the city foot up as follows: Grant and Wilson, 60,131; Greeley and Brown, 25,116; making a majority of 45,015 for Grant and Wilson in a total vote of 85,247. In October the whole vote was only 120,000. If this ratio of gain keeps up throughout the state the republican majority will be about 80,000. NEW JERSEY. The State Good for 5,000 Majority for Grant.

[Special to The Evening Star] PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5 .- Across the river at Camden, in New Jersey, the election is very exciting. Reports shows that the republicans have made heavy gains in all the counties bordering on the Delaware river and Pennsylvania New Jersey is set down for 8,000 majority for Grant.

NEW YORK CITY. Greeley's Majority Less Than 20.000— Democrats Voting Open Tickets for Grant.

[Special to Evening Star.] NEW YORK, Nov. 5 .- The election is progressing quietly in this city. The indications are that O'Brien will have a small majority, and that Greeley will have less than 29,000 majority in the city. Many democrats are voting open tickets for Grant and Wilson.

The Election in the City of New York – Business Suspended – Police Ar-rangements—The pollo Hall Party for Kernan for Governor. [By Associated Press.] NEW YORK, Nov. 5 .- The weather is clear

Arrests for False Registration. NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Numerous arrests were made up to 10:30 a. m. at the polls, most of them upon warrants issued by a commissioner, upon the charge of false registration. The rest were for various causes. Altogether, about fifty were adjudicated on at the Federal building by Commissioner Stilwell for the down districts up to this time. this time.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Up to 1 o'clock the election was proceeding quietly, and in the downtown districts more than half the registered votes were polled at 11 a.m. In the 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, and 5th wards O'Brien (for mayor) is doing well, and many Greeley tickets are dropped. In the negre ward (the 8th) O'Brien is the favorite, and scarcely any one else is voted for. In the 17th district Greeley is ahead, being run out of O'Brien base. In the 15th district O'Brien has beaten; Lawrence out of the field, and Havemeyer has no chance. In the 7th district Lawrence is beating O'Brien, and Havemeyer gets few votes, and Greeley is the favorite on the Presidential ticket. In the 18th district O'Brien is ahead, and running on Grant and Greeley tickets. Lawrence developed great strength in the 17th ward. Counterfeit tickets, scratching, and selling out are the order of the day. In one district (the 17th ward) O'Brien tickets are run from Tammany boxes.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 5.—This morning at an early hour Susan B. Anthony and eight other females went in a body to the polis in the 8th ward and presented their votes. The inspectors received the votes and deposited them in the boxes. There were eighteen women registered in the same district. Am Evem Thing at Albany.

The Republican says:—"All estimates are necessarily based upon the knowledge of the various parties before the election; but the general feeling appears to be that the republicans have carried the city by a small majority, and the state by at least 20,000. We are satisfied that the republican majority, whatever it may be, will be less than we had reason to expect some days ago. It is possible that here and there a weak candidate (and we had altogether too many such on our ticket) may fall so far behind as to fail of election, though we confidently beas to fail of election, though we confidently be-lieve the more prominent have been success

The Bee expresses the opinion that Greeley and Brown and the state fusion ticket have carried the state by at least 8,000 or 10,000 majority, and says the number of votes polled in this city was between 35,000 and 40,000.

The Picayune says: "The entire vote of the parish of New Orleans polled yesterday was 38,624. The majority for the liberal demogratic fusion ticket is estimated at 12,000. The state fusion ticket is probably elected."
